The Shaltering Arms.

This season of joy and merry-making brings also in Christian lands thoughts of the needy, sick and suffering, and it is good to remember that the noble and tender charity of the Shottering Arms is still able to keep its doors open to those who seek its care. Since the originator and founder of this institution has been removed from the scene of her many labors, the King's Daughters of Richmond have been untiring in their efforts to sustain Miss Peterkin's pan of supplying, in a measure, the great need of a city hospi-
